

Accessible Facilities & Services

Goat Lick Overlook - Photo by Roger Wilmers, Disabled Traveler’s Companion Website

Most park facilities were constructed prior to the Architectural Barriers Act, Accessibility Standards (ABAAS). Newly designed construction and remodel projects integrate barrier free design principles. Most accessible facilities are located in the park’s developed areas. Visitors are reminded that hazards associated with undeveloped areas may be especially difficult for visitors with mobility and other impairments.

Frequently, at mid-day, the parking areas at Logan Pass, Oberlin Bend, and Avalanche’s Trail of the Cedars fill, forcing visitors to drive on without stopping. To avoid the crowds, plan on visiting these areas early or late in the day. Park facilities are generally barrier-free; however, not all of them yet meet current ABAAS.

Restrooms

Many restrooms at developed areas and along Glacier’s primary roads, including the Going-to-the-Sun Road, are accessible yet not all of them currently meet all ABAAS. We are in the process of building new accessible restrooms & remodeling others to comply with standards. The majority of the park’s information centers have fully accessible facilities.
